

WORLD WAR VET IS FOUND SHOT

CARL PHIPPS DIES FROM HEAD WOUND

Carl Phipps, 39, world war veteran, was accidentally killed at 5 p. m. Thursday while hunting in a pasture near Maysfield. Phipps was found shortly after he left his home in Cameron to go hunting near the home his mother, Mrs. Clay Phipps at Maysfield. Silas Coker of Maysfield found the fatally wounded veteran as he lay near a fence. One leg was entangled in the wire of the fence and friends here said there was no doubt the shot gun he was carrying was accidentally discharged as he attempted to get through the wire. Near the body was a 410 gauge shot gun from which one shell had been discharged, the contents striking Phipps in the head.

Mr. Coker went to the home of Bill Thweatt, brother in law of Phipps and both summoned Justice John Thweatt who held the inquest. It was believed Phipps lay wounded for more than an hour before found by Mr. Coker. He died shortly after being found.

Phipps' car was found parked on the highway not far from where the body was found. The body was placed in the Phipps car but the ignition key could not be found. Wilb Gilbert, a friend of the family, came to Cameron for Mrs. Phipps and to get a key to fit the car.

Mr. Phipps was a native of Milam county. He enlisted in the army at the age 17 years.

Before moving to Cameron he lived at North Elm and was a prosperous farmer. Last year his right leg was badly burned. He spent several months in a hospital at Kerrville and had been living in Cameron for some time.

Survivors are, his widow, Mrs. Carl Phipps, one son John and a daughter, Dorris. His mother, Mrs. Clay Phipps lives at Maysfield.

Five brothers survive and are: Richard, William, Clay, J. B. and Floyd Phipps, all of Maysfield. Four sisters, surviving are: Mrs. Bill Thweatt of Maysfield, Mrs. Roy Weems of Cameron, Mrs. Milton Weems of Maysfield and Mrs. Jesse Newton of Buckholts.

Funeral services will be conducted from the First Baptist church of Cameron Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment will be in Oak Hill cemetery with Coleman Funeral Home directing arrangements.

"Ross and Doss" To Speak Here Thursday Night April 6

"Cottonseed" Clark, Sen. Doss and Rep. Ross Hardin with their Old Age Pension Band

Chairman Judd G. Davis of the Democratic Executive Committee announced today that Senator Doss Hardin and brother, Representative Ross Harkin, will be in Cameron on Thursday night, April 6, to deliver talks on the Old Age Pension. Mr. Davis is making arrangements for the speaking obtained use of the High School auditorium.

In this picture is shown the famous Hardin twins and their 'Hill Billy' band. These musicians will accompany the twins to Cameron.

Doss Hardin is a member of the Texas senate, having succeeded the late Dr. W. R. Newton. Ross Hardin is a member of the House of Representatives from Limestone county. Both are ardent advocates of the Old Age Pension. The public is urged to hear them Thursday night, April 6, at Yoe High School auditorium.

High School Boys Face Burglaries

Owen Stidham and Morris Weems, high school students, were arrested Thursday morning and were held in custody of officers here until late Thursday when they were given over to the custody of parents.

Both were implicated, said officers, in three robberies committed on Wednesday night and Thursday morning.

City night patrolman, Joe Richter, arrested Stidham as he emerged through a skylight at Lilly Ice Cream Company. The sum of $19 in small coins was taken from a money box in the building. Deputies John Eans and Dan Lunsford took Stidham to jail where he made a dash for liberty but was caught. Officers fired several shots in an effort to frighten the youth. Mr. Eans in the chase ran into a clothes line and shattered his glasses.

The tailor shop of Lee R. Clore was robbed also, as was the high school and small amounts of cash taken from each place.

On the awning roof of the Cameron Theatre $19 in coins, a Senior Class ring for 1939 and a box of Dominoes were found. Officers found this loot after day light Thursday morning.

Weems was not with Stidham at the time of the Lilly cream store robbery. Officers said he was implicated in the high school and tailor shop robberies.

At 3 a. m. Thursday Joe Richter, night patrolman, said he heard a noise in the Lilly cream store. He summoned other officers by whistle signal and covered the alley at the rear and also the front. Stidham shortly after emerged from the transept. He then climbed down a light pole to the ground. Richter said he fired one shot to frighten the boy who at first hesitated to come down from the roof of the theatre. As he stepped to the ground he flashed a light on Eans.

Officers in the forenoon made an extensive investigation. Later in the day the boys were released and given over to the custody of their parents.

Both are about 17 years of age. Weems played center on the Yoe men football team last fall and is a senior. Stidham took no part in athletic. He also is a senior student.

Formal charges are not necessary under the law when minors are arrested for an offense, said Bill Morrison, Criminal District Attorney. The law provides minors so held shall be presented before the County or District Judge. Then evidence is heard and the court makes such disposition of the defendants as appears just.

Mr. Morrison said it had come to his attention officially that burglary had been committed and that he deemed it best to have the boys appear before Judge Graham Gillis in District Court. Judge Gillis is sick in bed and pending his recovery Mr. Morrison advised Sheriff Kennedy to release the boys to their parents pending the hearing which will be held within the next few days.

Heavy Business Causes Delay in Publication this Week

The blessing of too much business is responsible for the Herald getting to its readers one day late this week. The printing plant was overloaded and sufficient time could not be devoted to the newspaper in time for the issue on Thursday as usual.

The publishers very much appreciate the amount of business they are now receiving and trust that it will not be necessary again to be late with the publication.

The plant is being moved next week to a new location and there is a possibility of a slight delay but after that time all schedules will be kept.

HEART STROKE FATAL TO SAN SABA MAN

John Alexander, 37, a resident of San Saba county, died from a heart attack in the street at the north lawn of the Cameron court house at 10:15 a. m. Sunday morning.

Mr. Alexander had come to Cameron with a load of cedar posts on Saturday. He was standing by his truck when he became suddenly ill. As he fell his head struck a piece of timber lying in the street near the curb causing a skull fracture.

Deputy Sheriff Dan Gunn got in touch with Alexander's father and instructions were given regarding disposition of the body. The Green Funeral Home ambulance took the body to the morgue and on Sunday night it was taken overland to San Saba for burial.

SAM McDERMOTT FOR ALDERMAN IN CITY

Sam McDermott, member of the Board of Alderman for the City Government, announced that he is a candidate for re-election subject to the general city election to be held on Tuesday, April 4th.

Mr. McDermott's announcement has been received with wide, general approval throughout the city by the people who recognize that as a member of the Council for the past several years he has made a fine contribution to better administration of the city's affairs.

Friends who plan an active support of Mr. McDermott for re-election point out that the council is stronger and more capable because of his membership. Mr. McDermott appreciates this estimate of his services but in his modest way feels that nothing less than the best he can give would justify the position he holds.

Mr. McDermott is conservative in his policies and the value that has been placed on his service results from a deep appreciation of the fact that as an Alderman it often occurs that one so serving must say "No," as well as "Yes." In following his convictions which are always sustained by seasoned judgment Mr. McDermott has had in mind at all times the welfare of his city. He re-elected to the Council Mr. McDermott will continue to serve without sparing time or effort to give the government a safe and sound administration at all times.

Mr. McDermott looks to the near future with confidence in the possibility of reduced taxes and a more easy burden for the business men and property owners. He will appreciate your vote and support.

Baylor Voices To Sing Easter Program Here

An Easter music program will be presented at the First Methodist church on Tuesday evening, April 4, by a mixed ensemble of twenty voices from Baylor University.

The title of the musical is "The Seven Last Words." This arrangement is by DuBois and will be under the direction of Miss Martha Barke-ma of Baylor. The program will begin promptly at 7:45 and there will be no charge, the public being cordially invited to attend.

Featured among the twenty voices is Billy Triggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Triggs of Cameron and student at Baylor University. It will be the first time such a program has been given in Cameron.

BOB TERRY ANNOUNCES FOR RE-ELECTION HERE

Bob Terry, Cameron business man and member of the City Council, announced this week that he will be a candidate for re-election to that position, subject to the general city election to be held on Tuesday, April 4.

Friends throughout the city were grateful for the opportunity to express their confidence in Mr. Terry and publicly acclaim their appreciation of his service as a member of the Council. Mr. Terry is deeply grateful for this expression and pledges each one that when he is re-elected he will continue to render the same service that has characterized his terms in office.

Mr. Terry in serving on the board has co-operated in every way to give the people a responsible government and at all times to safe-guard the revenues of the city, to keep them within the ability of tax payers to pay. In expenditures Mr. Terry has insisted on full value for every dollar so spent. The city has been able to operate without borrowing money, has kept its accounts in record order and has good balances in the several funds. Friends are taking this opportunity to point out that Mr. Terry has been responsible for this condition equally and along with other members of the council.

Mr. Terry did not feel at liberty to discuss his services but appreciates the kind things friends are now saying about his record. He will continue to serve as he has in the past and will appreciate your vote and support.

YOE HIGH BAND TO HUNTSVILLE SATURDAY

Cameron's celebrated Yoe High School band composed of seventy members will go to Huntsville on Saturday morning to enter the state band contest.

The band will compete in concert playing, sight reading and marching. There will be nine instrumental soloists, 4 instrumental ensembles and one to enter the drum major twirling contest in David Wade who placed a first division national championship last year.

Last year the band placed first in concert playing, in marching and in sight reading and hopes to repeat again this year. The band is in a new region No. 5, and little is known of the competition Director Cox will face at Huntsville. All members of the band are looking forward to the contest with great interest.

COURT CALLS VOTE ON DRY REQUEST

Judge Jeff T. Kemp cast the deciding vote on Saturday afternoon when the county commissioners were tied two against two on the question of calling a prohibition election for Monday, April 10, and as a result of this action, a petition presented a number of times by Mrs. J. R. McQuary of Buckholts finally resulted in a referendum for Milam county.

Commissioners E. G. Stiles of Thorndale and E. L. McGuyer of Rockdale voted for the election. Commissioner Grady Stidham of Cameron and Commissioner B. M. McMillion of Buckholts voted against calling the election. This resulted in a tie vote and Judge Kemp cast the deciding ballot in favor of the election.

The session of the court was held beginning Friday afternoon in the office of the county clerk. Considerable time was required to canvass the petition.

Mrs. McQuary, sole militant champion of prohibition, arranged an interesting exhibit for the court (Turn to Page 12)

JOE BASS OFFERS FOR ALDERMAN

Joe Bass, property owner, businessman, and former member of the City Council, announced today that he will be a candidate for alderman in the general city election to be held on Tuesday, April 4, 1939.

Friends of Mr. Bass throughout the city will be glad to know that he has announced for this important place in the city government. As a former member of the City Council Mr. Bass served as chairman of the street committee and as such brought to the administration of that department an outstanding achievement in economy.

In announcing for election to this important office Mr. Bass feels that he can justly point with pride to his record as chairman of the street committee and his friends, now actively supporting him for this place, are pointing out that Mr. Bass by (Turn to page 7)

Although there are no longer any Rotary Clubs in Italy, apparently there is nothing to prevent Italian residents in other countries from belonging to Rotary Clubs. For example, there are a number of Italian members of Rotary Clubs in 83rd district (Alexandretta, Cyprus, Egypt, Lebanon, Palestine, The Sudan Syria and Turkey) and Governor De Bildt announces in his bulletin that "Inquiries have been made in Rome and resulted in the news that Italians may remain in Rotary outside of Italy. This is good news, indeed, and we are glad to retain our Italian comrades in our midst."

Here is an idea developed and put into practical use by the Rotary Club of East Los Angeles, Calif: This club has what it terms the "Black Book" which each week is given to a different member to hold in his place of business. Every member of the club is expected to visit that member's place of business some time during the week and sign the "Black Book." Those who do not, pay nominal fine into the charity fund or whatever fund you want to put it, this not only assists in the charitable work of the club, but has proved to be a great stimulation toward the development of acquaintance and fellowship among the members of the Club.

Crown Prince Frederik of Denmark, has become an active member of Copenhagen Club under classification "Government Administration." In addition to being an active member of the Copenhagen Club, he is honorary Governor of the 75th District of Denmark and Iceland.

I know all the members of this club, have a better understanding of Rotary, after hearing District Governor Hubert Johnson of Waco, last Wednesday, not only the members but also the many guests who were present, and a 90 per cent attendance record of our members; nice going.

This Wednesday, nominations will be in order for Board of Directors, so be on hand, and do your duty as a true Rotarian, to help make a good selection of officers for the coming year.

Maybe?...
Drat it!

1,095 meals are cooked in your household every year. Preparing these meals with an obsolete range is like cooking while blindfolded. Guesswork is always the hardest way and the most costly in time, money and energy.

Yes, your old gas range still cooks

... but if you can't fit the HEAT to the task you are missing some of the advantages that your modern, low-cost gas service offers.

The new gas ranges fit the amount of heat to the cooking operation at a finger tip touch of the control lever and selected temperatures are maintained constantly and automatically. Proper oven temperatures, which are so important in baking and roasting, can be measured as accurately as the ingredients of the recipe itself. Top burners provide just the right amount of heat for top-of-the-stove cooking. You can have five tiny beads of concentrated heat for slow boiling or simmering or the intense, powerful heat for quickest frying and in-between heats when and as you need them. At a click of the valve handle you can regulate heat without guess work. No stooping. No experimenting.

See the new, matchless 1939 gas ranges today. Compare them with your present range. Learn how they will save you fuel, time and money. You'll agree they are designed to do more for you than "just cook".

Churches to Have Union Services Here On Good Friday

The churches of Cameron will hold a union Good Friday service this year at the Methodist church. The services will begin at 12 o'clock and continue until 3 p. m. Friday April 7.

Bass

reason of his experience and knowledge of business affairs and taxes offers in his candidacy an ideal prospective servant of the people at a time when the utmost economy must be practiced to keep the city's expenditures well within the bounds of its income.

Mr. Bass does not feel that he is called upon to announce a complete platform but pointed out that reduction in taxes to relieve the people of a considerable amount of their present burden is fulfilling the real purpose of the administration of government. Mr. Bass does not feel that it is necessary to continue to spend funds in the amount now allotted to this department and if elected it will be his purpose to give the administration of the city's affairs benefit of his experience which for a number of years was beneficial in keeping Cameron's expenditures wisely within the bounds of city income.

Before announcing for election to the office of alderman, Mr. Bass talked with a large number of voters and received from his friends a great deal of encouragement to offer for the place and he is deeply grateful for the pledges of support that have come to him in advance of the election which is to be held on Tuesday, April 4. He regards as important to his candidacy that so many have expressed their willingness to support him and is grateful for the many good things his friends are saying about his record as a former member of the City Council. He feels that with the co-operation of those who have pledged their support and the people of the city at large, he can return to the Council and render a service worthy the highest traditions of Cameron and her people.

Mr. Bass plans to see each voter but during the limited time remaining if he does not see each one, he presents this announcement as a direct appeal for your vote and support. In exchange for the confidence which his election would imply Mr. Bass pledges the people of the city that he will render a faithful and worthy service, guarding their interests and working toward a reduction in the tax rate and savings in the operation of the government.

The office and plant of the Cameron Herald will be closed for three days as follows: Friday, April 7, Saturday, April 8, and Monday, April 10. The plant of the Herald will be moved and it will be necessary to interrupt business for these three days during the installation of machinery and equipment in the new location. The public is cordially requested to bear with the management in this necessary shutdown of the plant.

Hail Stones Cover Ground 4 Days After Storm on Saturday

The extent and intensity of the hail storm on Saturday, March 25th is indicated by exhibition here on Tuesday afternoon of hail stones as large as hen eggs, found on the farm of M. C. Russell at North Elm.

Mr. Russell brought about ten pounds of hail stones to the Herald office Tuesday afternoon. He said that many thousands of pounds of hail still lay in the pastures and along fence rows and ditches, four days after the storm.

So far as records go here the storm was the most severe within the memory of the oldest citizen. Mr. Russell said young corn was destroyed and much damage done to homes.

In Cameron many automobiles had to be retopped after the storm. The hail stones, said Mr. Russell were as large as lemons. The extent of the storm was larger, covering the whole north section of the county.

The State Sunday School Convention will meet in Waco, April 11, 12, and 13. Further announcements will be made next week concerning the Convention and its program.

His Life Story

Reproduced from
The Dallas News

A Texas Board of Directors.

As our campaign in the field gathered momentum, it became clearer than ever that Texas was tired of professional politics. My appeal for the introduction of sound business principles and methods into our state government went over big. I argued that it was sound business for Texas to live up to her obligations to the old folks through old-age pensions payments, and I argued that if business principles were applied to a lot of the loose organization of bureaus and commissions, we could save a lot of unnecessary expense in state government. And I explained to listeners novel business plans for Texas.

Businessmen, large and small, were joining the O'Daniel ranks every day by the thousands. It was the general belief that most of the decisions made by professional politicians were made on the basis of how many votes such a move would make. The professional politician does not decide first of all whether any given proposition is sound and beneficial to the state. My plans had never been thought of by a professional politician. Even if somebody had thought it up for him, a professional politician could hardly understand it, since it is businesslike rather than political.

Board of Directors.

This plan, briefly stated, calls for the creation of a board of directors who will sit around a table in the Governor's mansion at Austin after I take office—a group of Texas businessmen to be invited by me, to serve the state without pay, and to advise from a business standpoint, not a vote-getting standpoint.

The kind of businessmen whom I intend to invite to sit in on this important advisory council are men whom you couldn't hire for love or money to hold a political office. They will not be asked for advice on what is needed to help the particular line of business they are in or interested in. They will be asked to consider the State of Texas as a great business organization, and to offer suggestions as to what Texas should do to get out of the mess we are in. This plan is so important a part of our program that I repeat it rather fully here.

As I said during the campaign, these business directors can be likened to the businessmen who assemble around the table of General Motors, or General Foods or the United States Steel Corporation. They will be drawn from every line of industry. They will discuss ways and means to put the state on a sound business basis. They will seek to reduce the cost of operation to a minimum without curtailing any of the useful work that the state is carrying on.

Firing and Hiring.

When this advisory board gets to work we may fire some employees, or we may hire additional employees. We may cut salaries or we may find that it is expedient to fire some relatives and hire some businessmen or women of proven higher ability to put in their places. That is how any successful business concern, big or little, operates.

Such an advisory board will help devise ways and means to bring new businesses to Texas to make, as possible examples of what I mean, automobile tires for six million people, furniture, electric refrigerators and everything that is now manufactured in other places. Truly, we will make Texas a state of more smokestacks and businessmen, so that our citizens may have employment. It may be asked how the advisory council will put its decisions into effect.

The recommendations of this businessmen's board of directors will be formulated into a message which I will give to the Legislature. Now, for at least once in its existence, the Legislature will have a sound business policy to consider instead of class legislation and special-interest legislation. It is my conviction that the Legislature will be tickled to adopt the recommendations of such a disinterested body of advisors, because it will give their friends back home jobs and get them votes at the next election, thereby making everybody happy.

And I went on to say what a shame it is that this wonderful State of Texas has gotten into the hands of professional politicians when we have so much land, so many natural resources, such a wonderful location, with about equal shipping distances to the East and to the West and to the North. In Texas we can make and supply the needs of the whole United States much better and more economically and quicker than New York can, being located way back there at the end of the nation.

With all the ships of the world docking right here at our ports, the finest ports in the world, and ready to carry our manufactured goods and the products of our farms to the world, we should be a great exporting state. We have the most healthful climate in the world, where people can enjoy living and working. We have plenty of cheap fuel. The only reason under the shining sun why we do not have thousands of big, busy, successful factories here in Texas is because our government has been run by a bunch of professional politicians. And I said then, as I say now, you can't legislate prosperity and happiness.

Must Work for Prosperity.

It was obvious to the great mass of the people of Texas, as it was to me, that you have to work for prosperity, and it was high time that we quit quarreling around over petty things and all of us got pulling together so that our government would be put on a business basis. The outpouring of common citizens at our meetings by this time had the professional politicians scared pink.

At first they had largely ignored my candidacy. But soon they were attacking me in every way they could, mostly by insinuations and campaign slanders. They saw the handwriting on the wall.

It was a different handwriting from the skywriting by airplanes.

The skywriting would soon fade, but this handwriting on the wall would not.

Campaign Managers.

Everything about our campaign for Governor was new and shocking to oil-line politicians—and no more so than our lack of regulation political methods of financing and managing the race.

In the first place, we never had any big money behind us. In fact, we never wanted any large donations, because that is not the way we think political office should be sought in this state. We asked the people themselves who were behind us to finance the campaign with their nickles, dimes, quarters, half dollars and dollars. At almost every rally Pat, Mike and Molly walked around in the crowds with small collection barrels labeled "Flour—not Pork."

I know we were economical and businesslike in the expenditure of this campaign fund because we had several hundred dollars left after the campaign, all of which was donated to the Red Cross for the relief of flood sufferers in Texas.

Wife Manages Campaign.

In the second place we had no high-powered managers I guess the real campaign manager was my wife, who turned our home into a sort of headquarters. But the real organization work was done by thousands of people in all parts of Texas who never once asked for even the glory of recognition. And here is a typical radio message during the campaign to the O'Daniel forces:

We want to thank all of you folks everywhere for organizing so many W. Lee O'Daniel clubs and for the contribution you are sending in. We appreciate the way everybody is working in this campaign. It is the individual work that you friends are doing that is putting this campaign on the top shelf. So keep up the good work.

We do not have any campaign manager. We do not have headquarters in all the fine hotels in the big cities. We do not have our picture on all the telephone poles up and down the highways—which make our highways now resemble a rogue's gallery. But I am appointing a campaign manager. And it is you, every one of you 54,499 people who wrote us to get into this race, and I want each to act as campaign manager in your particular circle of friends. This campaign is different in many ways, and this is one of them. I say we have more campaign managers than anybody else ever had and they are all working free.

Stream of Letters.

The response of the people continued to show itself in various ways. A steady stream of letters poured into our home, foreshadowing the avalanche of votes that were to come at the polls.

One of the first to predict that there would be no need for a runoff election was little 11 year old Eugenia Brooks, who lives on Rural Rt. 2, out of the town of Buckholts. She wrote: "We live on the farm and do not have any way to get to any of your speakings. We don't have a radio, either. I was at my grand mother's last week and heard your talk over her radio. I feel for you 100 per cent and know that you are to be our next Governor. I do hope you won't have even a runoff. People around here say there won't be any runoff. My mother and daddy have never heard you speak and know very little about you, but they are both going to vote for you."

Another letter which touched me deeply was a request, which I gladly responded to. Dr. Dunn, age 77, was thrown by a horse and lived only three days. He passed away but was conscious a little while at the hospital when he asked a neighbor if he was going to support Lee O'Daniel for Governor. And now we ask you to sing a song on your next Sunday program in his honor and for his many friends and relatives here and elsewhere. We lost a fine citizen at his passing.—Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Young, Rt. 3, Brownfield.

Businessman Needed.

N. L. Seale of Henderson wrote: "What Texas needs is a businessman for Governor. Politicians have gotten us into an awful mess and it is going to take a businessman to get us out, and not through the playing of politics. There are fifteen votes in my family, and we are for you 100 per cent. I am told this is the sentiment prevailing throughout Texas."

Wendell Cherry of Austin wrote: "I am not old enough to vote because I am only 16 years old and a high school student. But I have been electioneering for you just the same."

From T. J. Eason at Saint Jo I got this letter: "I am getting far along on the pathway that leads to Eternal Life, as I am 89 years old. I thank you for the attitude you have taken toward us old people of Texas. I do not support you in your race for Governor just for that stand but, rather, because you are a man after my own heart."

And here is a letter from Mrs. J. R. Krone of Seagoville, who sent in a $1 bill to help our cause: "The first money," she explained, "we ever put out to help anyone get an office, but we believe in you and want to help what little we can."

One of the strongest endorsements of our platform came from L. A. Pugh at Alvin, who wrote: "Just a line to tell you that the writer is for you. Your program regarding industry is a honey. Your stand on old-age pension is absolutely correct. Your poll tax stand is right down my alley. You will be the next Governor of Texas, beyond a doubt."

People Waking Up.

"I think the people of Texas are waking up at last, thank God," wrote Mrs. Marie Hardy of Galveston. "They want and intend to have a man with the spark of humanity in his heart, who will look after their interests and rights. We are tired of grafters and 'yes' men, and want somebody who cannot be swayed from his honest convictions of right and wrong."

R. W. Stephens of Dallas wrote: "I still believe you are the most sincere and unbiased man in the race. I am going to try to get 100 votes this week for you, as I will not be working. My wife would almost fight for you. She has listened to your radio programs ever since you started them."

From every section of the state came hundreds of invitations to stop in and have a meal while we were out campaigning. Typical of these invitations was this letter from Mr. and Mrs. H. W. McGovney of Overton: "When you make your tour of East Texas, we want you to come out to your friends' home and have supper with us. We do not have much to offer but we will be so glad to have you and your Hillbilly Boys as our Guests."

But while the common people were getting more and more enthusiastic and active in our behalf, the politicians were getting madder and madder. They turned on me and tried to tear my reputation limb from limb. I paid little attention to these campaign attacks, but I did resent the slur passed on the thousands of other good and true Texans like myself who had been born in distant states. Particularly I resented the attack on folks who were born in Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Batte, Sr., are holding open house, Friday night, March 31st, from seven until eleven p. m. in honor of their thirtieth wedding anniversary. You are most cordially invited. No presents.

An even of interest to friends here was the marriage of Joseph Eugene Miller to Miss Irene Tenge of Houston at the home of the bride's parents in Houston on Friday night. Rev. Marshall, a Baptist minister of Houston, performed the ceremony. The bride was beautifully dressed in aqua blue with japonica hat, bag and shoes. She carried a bouquet of white flowers which harmonized beautifully with the beautifully decorated room attractively arranged with rosebuds of various colors.

The groom is the son of Mrs. Effie Miller, was born and reared in Cameron, and is a graduate of Yoe High School. At present he is employed with the Shell Refinery in Houston where the couple will make their home. They accompanied his mother, who had gone to Houston to be at the wedding, home for the week end and returned on Sunday night.

On Wednesday afternoon the Cameron Symphony Club met at the home of Mrs. George Childress. Mrs. Pope Sapp presided over a short business meeting. Miss Eleanor Rowner led the program with a discussion of Massenet's opera "Manon." D. L. Lindsay, accompanied by Mary Jo Stedman, honored the group with a clarinet solo. Mary Jo Stedman also entertained the group with two piano selections and Virginia Weems, accompanied by Mrs. Clinton, gave two vocal selections. After the program, refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mrs. J. C. Wallace of Minerva was hostess at a miscellaneous shower Saturday afternoon honoring Mrs. Bill Jones of Dallas, a recent bride, who before her marriage was Miss Annie Frances Cone. In the contest of unwinding the cob web, Mrs. Jones found a basket laden with gifts at the end of her web. Mrs. Emory Fletcher received the award for unwinding her web first and graciously presented the prize, a lovely vase, to the honoree. Mrs. Jones opened the gifts and expressed her thanks for them. In a honeymoon tree contest, Misses Beatrice Cass and Kathryn Baldrige, tied, and in the cut Miss Cass was the winner. She presented the award, another vase, to the bride. Guests were then invited into the spacious dining room where delicious refreshments were served. Mrs. A. W. McCullin gave the following toast to the bride:

A fine 'little' girl Annie Frances Cone, Lived in Minerva until she was grown. Then off to Dallas she went Therein to work and be content. But wait, she met a boy by the name of Jones; About their love they made no 'bones' He wooed her and won her hand to wed And off to the minister they then sped. So to you, Annie Frances, a toast to the bride, A girl whom any man would be proud to have at his side.

May joy, happiness, success and prosperity abide While you walk life's pathway side by side. Assisting in the hospitalities were the bride's mother, Mrs. S. F. Cone, and an aunt, Miss Jennie Cone. Out of town guests for the occasion were Miss Kathryn Baldrige of Dallas and her mother, Mrs. Scott Baldrige of Rockdale and Mrs. Robert Isaacs and daughter, Miss Willie B. of Georgetown.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Unreality" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, April 2.

The Golden Text is: "Remove far from me vanity and lies; give me neither poverty nor riches; feed me with food convenient for me" (Proverbs 30:8.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And he answered, Fear not; for they that be with us are more than they that be with them. And Elisha prayed, and said, Lord, I pray thee, open his eyes, that he may see. And the Lord opened the eyes of the young man; and he saw: and, behold, the mountain was full of horses and chariots of fire round about Elisha" (II Kings 6:16, 17.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, 'Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "All the evidence of physical sense and all the knowledge obtained from physical sense must yield to Science, to the immortal truth of all things" (page 493.)

Dry Election

and spectators. On a table near where Judge Kemp sat presiding over the court was the copy of her petition signed by 396 qualified voters although there were over six hundred names on the list; a Bible, a copy of the Cameron Herald containing an article stating there is no demand for a prohibition election in Milam county; an old beer bottle with a Pearl beer advertisement clipped from a newspaper tied around it with cotton string, this advertisement bearing the date of September 13, 1933, the date beer was legalized for sale in the nation; two copies of a handwritten booklet entitled "The Book We Need" by Mrs. McQuary, a copy of the Texas Liquor Control Act, and a post card on which were written the names of Mrs. McQuary's Sunday School class requesting the court to vote for a prohibition election.

As the court prepared to open its session Mrs. McQuary asked Judge Kemp to pray. The Judge did not respond and indicated by his attitude that he thought it was unnecessary to launch the session in a spiritual atmosphere. Mrs. McQuary also called on Commissioner E. G. Stiles to pray. She said she always had better luck before every undertaking if she prayed. Mr. Stiles begged to be excused and said he did not think a prayer would be necessary. After considerable pause Judge Kemp asked if anyone in the court room had any matter to bring up before the court proceeded with the canvass of the petition. Grady Little, Pearl beer distributor, asked that Mrs. McQuary be placed under oath to testify that all signatures on the petition were authentic. Mr. Little said he had proof that at least one man's name found on the petition was not authorized. Mrs. McQuary stated that all names on the petition were either written by the individual or had given her permission to write them.

She asked Mr. Little to which name he referred and he told her he referred to the name of Charlie Landis of Rockdale, city marshal. Mrs. McQuary said Mr. Landis gave her permission to put his name on the petition. Mr. Little told the court that the distributors would be satisfied with the decision of the court.

At this point Mrs. McQuary picked up the beer bottle and said, "No girl has ever tasted from this bottle" and that this bottle had never been on sale in any beer parlor, and proceeded to read from the advertisement after which she asked the court if its members thought "this good literature for our children to read."

Judge Kemp invited the distributors to look over the petition and the distributors wanted to know if names not actually written on the petition by the individual were legal to be authorized by someone else. To this question Judge Kemp replied that he would rather the district attorney pass on these questions. The district attorney was not present and the court was without legal advice. The court went ahead checking the petition. The court assured all interested parties that the petition would be thoroughly canvassed and if any doubt existed, names would be questioned, however it was found that the petition contained a sufficient number of qualified voters.

The distributors left the court room stating they appreciated the kindness and consideration shown them and left the matter entirely with the court. Mrs. McQuary left the room only one time and then to obtain a copy of an old poll tax list. During the hearing the court was interrupted to select a type of flooring for the court house. They adjourned at 5 o'clock on Friday to meet again on Saturday at 9 a. m. to finish canvassing the petition and at 2 o'clock in the afternoon completed its work and called the election.

Bad Shot Greenhill Is Held Insane By Court Here

Fred Greenhill, the man who recently established an all time high for poor marksmanship, in an attempt to shoot his father in law, W. L. Willingham on February 23, has been declared to be insane by two Cameron doctors called in for consultation in district court. It was said here by officers that Greenhill had been mentally incapable for sometime and the investigation, according to the officers, is said to have shown that insanity was prevalent among certain of his relatives.

Greenhill was "whooping it up" on the night of the shooting having returned from the village in a state of intoxication. No one at the time suspected him of mental weakness but all agreed that as a marksman he did not show very much ability as he fired thirty shots, only one of which took effect in his father in law.

50 Children Now Get Free Food at School Here

About fifty needy children are served each school day at Ada Henderson school through the interested co-operation of teachers, Community Chest and WPA together with assistance of food stores and individual donors.

The committee will appreciate at this time from local homes, donations of jelly, canned goods, rice or other cereal. These donations may be delivered to the kitchen of Ada Henderson School before noon on school days, or to Mrs. George F. Childress, Jr., Chairman of Donations Committee. If goods can not be delivered, please call 202.
